DISSOLUTION IS DISCUSSED

Wilson and McReynolds Plan
Legislation for New Haven Tangle.

Washington, May 25—Plans for dissolution of the New Haven railroad system were taken up today in a conference between President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds. They discussed particular plans for getting legislation through the Massachusetts legislature to carry out some of the details of the dissolution. Following the conference it was announced that the President had asked Gov. Walsh of Massachusetts to call on him Wednesday regarding the proposed legislation.

There has been no hitch in the dissolution plans, according to officials close to the President. So far as is known the attorney general has dropped the question of interfering with the Interstate Commerce Commission in its hearings of directors and officers in the New Haven.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT.

Dr. W. O. Junkins Has a Narrow Escape This Morning.

As Dr. William O. Junkins was turning his carriage around in front of his residence this morning, the horse took a sudden start and crumpled the forward wheels in such a manner as to overturn the vehicle. Dr. Junkins escaped without injury, but one wheel of the carriage was wrecked. A passer by seized the horse by the head and prevented any further damage.

TO FREE THE BRIDGE.

All Should Unite to Remove the Barrier to the City's Prosperity.

Our citizens should leave no stone unturned to help the matter of freeing the local toll bridges. The citizens of Rockingham county and York county, Me., can do their fellow citizens no greater service than by rushing their highways and start the work of removing their great barriers to local expansion. The people have waited long and patiently for relief and the legislators have made relief possible and now lets have it.

PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

Mexicans Would Let Huerta be Candidate—Suggest this Would Allow Dictator to Retire With Dignity

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 25.—Smooth progress toward a common agreement on all phases of the Mexican problem is being made by the mediators and the American and Mexican delegates. This was stated with emphasis by the mediators tonight after a day of conference, principally with the Mexican delegates.

The three South American diplomats made it plain that while every aspect of the Mexican situation had been laid before the delegates, no formal basis had yet been reached for the treatment in any specified order of the issues involved. Nor has the relative importance of the main issues been defined.

The discussion thus far has been of a general character. The mediators have taken the position that they are essentially mediators, and not dictators, of the destinies of the Mexican republic. They will not suggest names for the provisional presidency, nor will they recommend any form of government. From the Mexican delegates themselves must originate proposals concerning the internal affairs of their country, and these suggestions will be transmitted by the mediators to the American delegates for consideration.

The theory under which the internal questions are being brought into the discussion is that the United States has a right to say whom it will recognize as a provisional president of Mexico, and therefore, can indicate in advance who will be acceptable.

On the agrarian problem, too, suggestions must originate from the Mexican delegates. Thus far the talk on the land question has not reached the merits of the subject itself. The argument has been whether Mexico's land problem could be properly discussed in an international tribunal. The Mexican delegates have shown a serious disinclination to have it included, because they regard it as a purely internal question.

The American delegates, on the other hand, have maintained that as the land question has been fundamental cause of unrest, some program should be considered and perhaps suggested with a view to influencing a gradual settlement of the question. The purpose of the American delegates, it is said, is to place the problem so conspicuously before the world as an obligation that no new administration could ignore it.

Consideration of the agrarian problem has consumed much time, but other aspects of the Mexican question have been by no means ignored. The relative importance that should be attached in the parleys to the Tampico incident, the personnel of the new provisional government, and kindred questions incident to the transition from the Huerta regime to another administration, have been talked over in detail. As yet no points have been finally decided. Enough of the viewpoint of the American and Mexican delegates, however, has been revealed to the mediators to warrant them in expressing distinct encouragement over the outlook.

The mediators and the American delegates alike pay warm tribute to the men who compose the Mexican delegation. Although the appointees of General Huerta have approached the work of composing the difficulties besetting the country from a broad patriotic standpoint, and have at no time shown a disposition to lift the personal fortunes of any Mexican publicist to a controlling place.

The mediators, as well as the American and Mexican delegates, have pledged themselves to keep their proceedings secret. One reason for this is the desire of the Mexican delegates that various phases of the discussion here, particularly those relating to the retirement of Huerta, should not be misinterpreted in Mexico City and thus weaken the administration there in its handling of the military situation against the Constitutionalists.

The Mexican delegates here are observing with keen interest the military campaign of the Constitutionalists but they do not think it can result in the capture of Mexico City for months at least. They deny flatly the capture of Satillo. In the meantime, it is their hope that a new provisional government will be set up in the Mexican capital, which the United States would promptly recognize.

This, they expect, would naturally

P. A. C. DEFEAT THE MARINES IN FINE GAME

Clever Base Ball Game -- Newick Back to P. A. C. -- Bennett Pitched a Great Game.

In the fastest and best played game of the schedule, the P. A. C. defeated the Marines on Monday evening by a score of three to nothing. The game was cleverly played and the Athletic team showed up wonderfully fast, hitting the ball well and playing an errorless game. Jim Newick was on first and this has something to do with the way the team played, for his cool head and good judgment was always in evidence and he had his eye on the ball, getting two base hits. Newick got a fine hand from the crowd when he came to the bat and responded by getting the first hit of the game.

With Newick on first the P. A. C. have as good an infield as they have ever presented in the Sunset League and with Trueman in center the outfield is materially strengthened, for his throwing was much needed in that section. Ralph Brackett caught a great game and it was due to his clever work that the Marines were shut out, his throwing to bases being deadly accurate and his blocking at the home plate great.

The Marines presented their strongest team and with the exception of the third inning when Moll came across with two errors, they played a fine game. They hit the ball hard and fielded fast. Bennett pitched a fine game allowing but four hits, but there was some hard wallop on both sides, which the fielders got under. They are a fast bunch and before the season is over the team that gets away with their game will have to travel some.

Lehan, who played left field for the Fort last year in amphitheater, behind the plate and his work last evening was very satisfactory. Bunker is working on bases.

Neither team scored until the fourth when the P. A. C. on a combination of hits and errors won the game. The Marines in the first three innings were out in order. In the fourth with one gone, Berg and Mims singled but they never reached home. Ralph Brackett working Berg into an attempt to go home on a throw down to second only to be nailed at the plate, Mims tried to pull off a steal home but he was also tagged at the plate. In the fifth they made a good try and on two hits and a hit by pitcher filled the bases with no outs. McDevitt hit to Leary forcing Moll at the plate, Holbrook was struck out and quick throw to first to Newick forced McDevitt off the bag and Christie at-

WOOD TO BE ARRAIGNED TODAY

Concord, N. H., May 26.—Eugene Wood, who is charged with the murder of George W. Pease of Henniker, who was shot while sitting in his little toy factory Friday, will be arraigned in the district court at Bradford tomorrow.

Wood has retained as counsel Joseph A. Denigan of Concord, one of Harry K. Thaw's lawyers in this state.

At the jail here last night Wood, who had taken his arrest calmly, refused to make any comment. The authorities claim that he had made frequent objections to calls made by Pease upon Miss Ida M. Barnes, who conducts for her father the farm upon which Wood has been employed.

Wood has been a resident of Henniker for about 20 years, the greater part of which time he has been in the employ of Barnes in various capacities.

It is understood that he was enamored of Barnes' daughter, Miss Ida, and that he was intensely jealous of Pease, who had been calling at the house for a long time.

WARM, RAINY WEATHER

For the First Half of the Week—More Rain About Friday—Then Change to Cooler.

Washington, May 25.—Warm weather with well distributed local rains was forecasted by the Weather Bureau last night for the first half of the coming week.

"The indications are that during the coming week the temperature will average above the normal in the Eastern and Southern States, the Ohio valley and the Central West and near or somewhat below the normal in the Northwestern States, the Rocky Mountain region and on the Pacific slope. The rainfall during the week will be generally local, but well distributed over the northern and western states.

"A disturbance that now covers the northwest will advance eastward and cause showers and thunderstorms the first half of the week in the northern states from the upper Mississippi valley eastward and locally in the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions.

"Another disturbance will appear in the far west about Tuesday, cross the Great Central Valleys Wednesday or Thursday and the eastern states about Friday; this disturbance will be attended by well distributed showers and thunder storms east of the Rocky Mountains, and it will be followed by a general change to cooler weather."

GREAT BRITAIN NOT GOING TO PANAMA FAIR

Final Decision is Reached Not to Participate in the Celebration at San Francisco.

London, May 25.—The British government, acting contrary to the hopes held out by Premier Asquith to recent deputation, finally decided today not to participate in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco.

The decision of the Cabinet was announced in the House of Commons in the course of the afternoon. Premier Asquith informed the House that, in view of recent presentations made by members of Parliament, the Government had carefully reconsidered the question, but had come to the conclusion that it must adhere to its original determination. The premier, anxious to show that no question of unfriendliness toward the Exposition was involved, laid stress on the acceptance by the British Government of the invitation sent by the United States Government to participate in the opening of the Panama Canal, and also on Great Britain's intention of sending a contingent warship "showing the importance we attach to the occasion and to the good will of the United States."

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a Glass of Salts Before Breakfast if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy; full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with stiff headache, or dizzy nervous spells, acid stomach or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

NOT MOVING AGAINST AMERICANS

Huerta Forces Strengthened in Vera Cruz as Result of Rebel Invasion of the State.

Washington, May 25.—The Spanish ambassador informed the State Department that he had just received a message from the Foreign Office in Mexico City announcing that a Constitutional force of 8,000 men had entered the state of Vera Cruz, and explaining that the movement of Federal troops in that neighborhood was against the Constitutionalists and not against the American garrison at Vera Cruz. The ambassador said the Huerta Government wanted to guard against having the activity of its army instigate a violation of the agreement to suspend hostilities pending the mediation negotiations. War department officials said the Constitutional army referred to probably was part of the force that occupied Tuxpan recently. It is understood that considerable bodies of men are being marched into the interior from the neighborhood of Tampico and Tuxpan heading for Guanajuato.

LOOK FOR FALL OF HUERTA

German Observers Believe That Present Government Cannot Exist Much Longer.

Berlin, May 25.—The German Foreign Office, while watching with great interest the progress of the Mexican mediation conference at Niagara Falls and hoping that it will be successful in averting war, declares it has not positive information which would enable it to foreshadow the results of the meetings. An impression, it was stated, had been created in German official circles by the latest news from Mexico that the Government of Provisional President Huerta would hardly be able to maintain its existence much longer.

MEASURING THE MIND

Dartmouth and Its Psychological Tests.—Freshmen Found to Be Above Average in Mental Development.—Possibilities of the Scheme.

The results of Dartmouth's first attempt to measure the student's mind are now at hand, the definite conclusion being that the average freshman at Hanover is superior to the average man in mental development. Limited and incomplete as these psychological investigations have been they have served to show what possibilities the scheme really possesses. In the first place, the inquiry disclosed to the freshman himself just how he stands in relation to his fellows. He is not judged by his attainments, as is the case in the classroom, but by his natural mental ability. To the college this sort of measurement may prove invaluable. Suppose, for instance, that a student finds difficulty in keeping up with his class and, when dragged before the dean, contends that he spends hours and hours in studying. The dean's duty is well, to look up the man's mental abilities, learns whether the victim is naturally dull, and acts accordingly. If the student's mind is not up to the average, his statement about "plugging" without results is undoubtedly true; if, however, his mind is better than normal, he either is not telling the truth about hard study or else he does not know how to study effectively. In either case he is due for a special lecture.

This, they feel, would permit him to retire with dignity and would greatly facilitate the restoration of permanent peace.

Jose Requena, who was a candidate for vice-president in the same ticket with General Felix Diaz, left today for Toronto after a conference with the Mexican delegates.

Today was Victoria day, also known as Peace Day, in Canada, and coincidentally, Independence Day in Argentina. Minister Nixon received the felicitations of his colleagues and the mediation colony generally.

There were no conferences with the American delegates during the day. The mediators spent most of their time explaining to the Mexicans the view point of the Americans as presented to them last night.

Portsmouth, N. H., Tuesday, May 26, 1914.

Too Sweeping.

A writer in a magazine comes down harder on automobilists as a class than the circumstances will justify. There are some automobilists who are guilty of grave abuse of their privileges and rights, and who are ill bred enough to distribute impudence as well as to carry danger along the ways they travel, but the great majority of people who travel in motor cars are not of this class. They are sane and decent, showing a disposition to live and let live, and it is no fairer to judge them by the conduct of the reckless and the impudent than it would be to judge a community by the loafers and bummers who are haled before the police court in the morning.

The writer referred to says automobilists go where they are not asked to go, tearing up the roads with their heavy machines, finding fault with rural communities because the roads are not better than they are, calling the residents of the country districts reubens, jays and mossbacks, scattering waste paper, lunch boxes, egg shells and empty bottles along the roads and making a nuisance of themselves generally.

That there are cases of this sort of conduct may be admitted, but everybody knows that it is by no means the rule. The average automobilist is a decent man or woman seeking the enjoyments of the road without trenching upon the rights of any other man or woman. The worst offending on the part of motorists is in the form of overspeeding, the temptation to which is very strong in places, and a most inhuman act is committed when an injury is inflicted and the driver hurries on without stopping to investigate or to reveal his identity. For such an act there is absolutely no excuse, but fortunately there is not one motorist in 100 who would be guilty of it.

The magazine writer lays great stress on the statement that "we go where we have not been asked to go," but that truth applies to most travelers and is nothing against them. And to most communities all automobilists but the reckless are very welcome, although they have not been asked to come. Most of them have a way of scattering more or less money along the routes traversed and most of them are very agreeable people to meet. There is certainly no warrant for holding up automobilists as a class as little better than high-toned tramps, and in attempting to administer a proper rebuke to those deserving it the writer alluded to has made his denunciation too sweeping.

Coxey's "army" has reached the national capital. It was composed when it marched down Pennsylvania avenue to martial music of the "General" and six privates. It must be that there is not such a lack of employment as there was. The demonstration was anything but impressive except as it impressed upon those who witnessed it the depths of folly to which some men can descend.

"Who shall despise the day of small things?" Out in Oklahoma a church building has been sold in order to pay the pastor $40 which is due him in the form of salary. He asserts that he has received only $16 since last November. Somebody ought to pass the hat and endow that church, thus placing it beyond upheavals of this character.

The chief surgeon of the first division of the United States army says if war with Mexico is declared $1,000,000,000 will have to be expended in establishing a sanitation system in that country. It is to be hoped the mediators will be able to stave off this exigency.

"It is good to be home again," said Colonel Roosevelt when he reached his home in Oyster Bay. And that is the way it seems to every right-minded man, no matter where has been or how long he has been away.

The death rate of the United States was two tenths of one per cent greater in 1913 than in 1912. But most of us will sensibly refuse to shiver over this intelligence until the weather changes.

The Foresters of America are a great and growing organization, but they are not the ones who are trying to save the forests of the country. That is a different set of foresters.

There are about 1,000 Americans who are still taking their chances in Mexico City. There must be some strong attractions in Mexico in spite of its troubled condition.

It is said that 30,000 Indians are ready to aid Huerta. And if the border Texans ever get after him he will think there are some Indians on the other side.

Many a field would welcome honest recruits from the army of the unemployed. But how many such could the "army" supply?

Have you noticed any of the meteors, or "shooting stars," which the astronomers say are quite numerous these nights?

Summer seems to have come at last, and it cannot be charged with being ahead of the schedule.

THE VISIT TO WEST POINT

On Saturday we visited West Point, called during the Revolutionary war the "Gibraltar of the Hudson," and there could be no better site for the United States military academy. Two fortresses, Forts Putnam and Clinton, and several redoubts and batteries erected during the War of Independence are still to be seen. The academy is on a plain about 180 feet above the river, surrounded by the bold scenery of one of the grandest river passes in the world and is forty-eight miles from New York.

The academy is an absolutely democratic institution with each cadet on precisely the same footing as the other. Some of the buildings on the reservation are: The heating and power plant, which is a new stone building near the top of the hill and containing the steam heating plant that supplies radiation to all of the public buildings, and electrical machinery generating light for streets and buildings and power for driving all the machinery at the Post.

The cadet store is situated in the rear of the gymnasium. Therein is manufactured and repaired all of the cadet uniforms, and a general store is maintained for the sale of everything needed by cadets and officers.

The great stone structure at the head of the dock road on a rocky terrace is the riding hall. Balconies extend along the full length of the west wall and the north and south ends, to which visitors are admitted.

The West academic building is built of Massachusetts granite and cost, without furniture, about $600,000. It contains the recitation, lecture rooms and examination halls of several of the departments of instruction. The drawing academy is on the 4th floor. There is an interesting collection of retained drawings by cadets dating as far back as 1820, containing artistic specimens by the late James McNeil Whistler, General Grant, Sherman and Meade, and Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, and many others. The frames in the lower hallway of this building contain the weekly marks of cadets. Visitors are not admitted to this building unless accompanied by an officer or attaché.

The East academic building is now nearing completion, and faces the West academic building.

The Post headquarters is a massive structure of local stone, granite and concrete, the parapet of which is 100 feet from the ground at the southeast corner. This structure, while harmonizing perfectly with the other new buildings, is in the style of a medieval keep or donjon, and demonstrates the adaptability of the style to practical planning and modern utility. An enormous eagle carved in granite ornaments the southeast angle of the building. The walls are ornamented with coat-of-arms of the states, territories and possessions of the United States, together with those of the government, war department, etc. This building also contains the offices of the officers.

The ordnance museum contains models of the arms of all nations and valuable trophies of war that should be seen by everyone.

High on the hill and dominating the entire post, the chapel rears its sheer walls of massive stone, cruciform in plan with a huge central tower, the parapet of which is 130 feet above the pavement of the interior and 420 feet above the level of the river. Around the corner of the church immediately above the clerestory windows, is a row of curious and interesting carved bosses dealing with the Quest of the Holy Grail. The great chancel window is of extraordinary beauty and richness, and was selected in a gratuitous competition of eleven American and English artists, and is thought to be unequalled in America.

The gymnasium, with its interesting exterior treatment of tapestry brick-work and limestone, its great, plain wall surface relieved by massive buttresses with richly decorated terminals. The ground floor contains the cadets' dressing room, fencing room, boxing room and officers' gymnasium. Besides these are the main east and west entrances, vestibules and the hall of trophies, wherein are displayed the gifts and prizes won by the cadets in athletic tournaments. The gymnasium proper occupies the whole of the main building above the first story. Its vast size and loftiness are very striking. The main basement contains a shooting gallery for indoor rifle and pistol practice.

The cadet barracks consist of the South barracks, North barracks, Soldiers' hospital, public school, bachelor officers' quarters, the officers' mess, the cadet mess, the summer cadet camp, ordnance laboratory, cadet hospital, Catholic chapel, Memorial hall and the library. The reservation includes a cemetery, the Battle monument, Fort Putnam, mortuary, chapel, drawing academy, Vade monument, Kosciusko monument, Thayer monument and Sedgwick monument, Trophy Point, Dialectic hall, the seacoast, Knox and Seige batteries.

We saw the impressive dress parade, by their courtesy for our benefit. The entire battalion of cadets were assembled for a parade in full dress. The six cadet companies fall into line im-

CURRENT OPINION

Vera Cruz Subject to Such Law as Occupying Power May Elect.

During the occupation of Vera Cruz the inhabitants of such territory become subject to such law as the occupying power may choose to enact. As a matter of fact, the military officers of the United States in occupying territory are bound by the military code and the instructions for armies in the field, which instructions are based upon Professor Lieber's Instructions contained in general orders No. 100 and which were in force during the Civil war.

The property of the inhabitants as far as consistent with military necessity and their personal liberty is to be respected. The ordinary municipal law rules and regulations are continued in force as far as they can be consistently with effective military control. The local authorities are usually continued in the exercise of their ordinary functions, but this must be done with the permission of the officer in command. Such territory is directly subject to the orders of the President of the United States as chief executive.

The government in Cuba for years was a military government of the United States directed from Washington, and such was the government carried on in the Philippines until Congress enacted there a local government independent of the military government.—By Frederic R. Conde, International Law Expert.

Immediately in front of their barracks where they are inspected by their captains. The cadet adjutant and sergeant-major, after the "adjutant's call" (rifles and drums only), march out on the parade ground and mark out the line along which the companies are to form. As each company approaches two "guides" take up the line until all the companies are formed.

The "officer in charge" (the army officer in charge of cadets for the day) with the cadet quartermaster as adjutant takes his post in command of the parade. The battalion is then brought to "parade rest," the band marches twice along its front and then plays "The Star Spangled Banner," while the garrison flag is slowly lowered to be again raised at the next sunrise, after which the cadet adjutant brings the corps to a "present" and takes his post behind the officer in charge. After the battalion has executed a few movements the adjutant publishes the orders of the day, and all the cadet officers march to the front to report to the officer in charge. After this the battalion passes in review and thence to the barracks where it is dismissed.

The battalion of cadets carries two flags, one the flag of the United States and the other the battalion color—a grey flag bearing the arms of the academy.

At 3 o'clock occurred the ball game between West Point and Fordham University. A large delegation from the University came to witness the game.

Epworth League of Methodist Church Holds Business Meeting.

The Epworth League connected with the Methodist church held their regular monthly business meeting in the vestry on Monday evening with a large attendance. The business session included the choosing of the committee for the Lyceum course to be held next season. The committee consists of Messrs. D. H. Crossley, H. C. Twombly, J. H. Smith, H. L. Hilton and Mrs. Henrietta Norton.

A reception given to the newly installed officers was then in order. This was followed by a program and a social.

Refreshments of ices and cakes were served, Miss Gertrude Beyer was chairman of the entertainment and the committee consisted of the retiring cabinet.

GOOD VAUDEVILLE ACTS

The Portsmouth Theatre was well filled Monday evening. Great interest was shown by the crowd in the act of Pasca and Marie, burlesques of grand opera. The costumes used in this act are beautiful and the artist's voices excellent. In the third number the scene becomes ludicrous, and everyone roared at the Castle Walk. It is decidedly different from the one originated by Mr. Vernon Castle.

Murphy and Delmar, parody singers, have some new live ones on "Dancing Around," "Marching Through Georgia" and "That's How I Need You." Miss Delmar gives a fine character impersonation. Some up-to-date jokes that are really funny are thrown in between songs in a most pleasing manner. Mr. Murphy's cod fish story breaks the record.

Both these acts will be seen Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening.

GRAND ARMY MEN ARE OFFENDED

President Wilson Refuses to Attend Memorial Exercises — Accepts Confederate Invitation.

Washington, May 26—Members of the Grand Army of the Republic are very much incensed against President Wilson for his refusal to accept an invitation to attend the Memorial Day exercises at the Grand Army of the Republic at Arlington national cemetery and accepting an invitation to be present at the unveiling of the monument to the Confederate dead at the same place on June 4.

The G. A. R. men have taken very much to heart the declination of the President to attend their exercises. They think that some explanation is due to them by President Wilson of his attitude in accepting the invitation of the Confederates while refusing theirs. Dr. J. K. Gleeson, commander of the department of the Potomac, of the G. A. R., said that he intends to do everything in his power to persuade Washington Gardner, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., not to make the speech he is scheduled to make at Arlington in connection with the ceremonies to be held at the unveiling of the Confederate monument.

The Observer

One of Portsmouth's finest is wearing a new helmet and thereby hangs a tale. The old helmet worn by the blue coat had seen considerable service and had got a little rusty. This was noticed by one of the officials at city hall who had rather perpetrate a joke than sit down to an A1 meal. In his usual quiet and forcible way he suggested to the police officer that he could get a preparation at a local hardware store that would make the headpiece look like new and it would cost only a quarter of a dollar. The suggestion was adopted and the next day the officer was seen busily applying the black to the helmet. The transformation was not what was expected as the helmet shrunk in size so it was impossible to get it on the wearer's head and a new one was ordered. In the future the kindly advice of the city official will have to be directed elsewhere than to the policeman, who has had his experience.

A policeman meets with some funny experiences in his routine of duty and has some questions propounded to him that would puzzle Philadelphia lawyer. Officer West, who is at present covering the North End beat, had an amusing experience a few days ago. While on Market street he was accosted by a man from the upper part of the state, who had just come from the coal wharf where he had been looking attentively at the coal barge. Monitor of Philadelphia. With extreme caution and boldness he said to the officer: "Say, Mr. Policeeman, do you think that there is any way possible for me to get aboard that gunkboat at the head of the wharf? I am just dying to see what she looks like inside." The officer had hard work to convince the man that the craft at the head of the wharf was used for the transportation of coal, and was not a war vessel. He was advised to go to the navy yard if he desired to inspect a fighting craft.

HOME RULE PASSES FOR THE THIRD TIME

Government Has a Safe Majority--
Now Goes to the House of Lords and May Be Amended.

London, May 25.—By a vote of 351 to 274, a majority of 77, the House of Commons this afternoon read a third time the Irish Home Rule bill, and passed the hard-fought measure on to the House of Lords, where another effort will be made, by means of an amending bill, to bring the act into a shape which will secure it the good will of all classes of Irishmen.

The end of the struggle came quite suddenly, the Unionists refusing to debate the bill without further information about the Government's intentions in regard to the proposed amending measure.

Premier Asquith lifted a corner of the veil, but, though Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, admitted that the Premier's words were as conciliatory as usual, he hastened to add that Mr. Asquith had not told them anything. To discuss the third reading under the circumstances would, he said, be futile and ridiculous.

Law's "Appeal to People." He added: "Let the curtain ring down on this contemptible farce. It is only the end of an act and not of the play. The Government can carry the bill through Parliament, but the concluding act of the drama will be in the country, where an appeal to the people will not end in a farce."

Mr. Law then remarked that when the Government was unable to obtain a seat in Parliament for a member of the Cabinet, meaning Mr. Masterman, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, an appeal to the country evidently was not far off.

After a brief speech by Mr. Asquith, in which he defended the Government against the charges of ignoring the rights of the minority and regressing the balance of power between the parties by means of the Parliament act, he explained that he was introducing an amending bill, not because he thought that the Irish Home Rule measure was bad or imperfect, but because he was anxious for peace.

The vote was then taken, and the announcement of the figures, showing a majority of 77 for the bill, brought out a great demonstration by the Nationalists and the Liberals. As one man they rose from their seats, cheering and waving hats and handkerchiefs.

The division was strictly on party lines. The followers of William O'Brien abstained from voting. Mr. O'Brien expressing the view that the Premier's action was not straight dealing, either with England or Ireland.

House Chamber Filled.

The closing scene in the fight in the House of Commons for Irish Home Rule brought together today a crowd of members and spectators which filled the lower chamber to its utmost capacity. Every seat in the Peers' gallery, as well as in the strong-ers' galleries, was occupied. Many members of the foreign Diplomatic Corps were present.

The feeling in the House was tense, while outside great crowds gathered to await the result of the debate on the third reading of the bill.

The bill has already twice passed through all its stages in the House of Commons in two separate sessions, and the expected veto of the House of Lords, therefore, will not prevent its becoming law.

Seething With Excitement.

The House was seething with ex-lement from the moment the Speaker took the chair. Members of the various parties indulged in loud outbursts of cheering when their respective champions entered the chamber, while at the same time mocking banter was shouted from the opposite benches.

Mr. Gonzalez, the Unionist, who on Saturday defeated C. F. G. Masterman, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, in the by-election at Ipswich, met with such an uproarious welcome on his introduction that he appeared glad to escape from the limelight.

Mr. Bon, James Lawther, the Unionist, took an early opportunity today of applying "palm to the sores left by the violent incidents of Thursday last." He frankly admitted that he should not have used the expression he did when he asked Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, whether he approved of the disorderly demonstration by the Unionist members.

Appeal for Information.

The Speaker appealed to the Premier to give the House some information regarding the bill to be introduced after the passage of the Irish Home Rule bill, for the amendment of that measure, so as to meet some of the objections of the people of Ulster.

In response to the Speaker's plea, Premier Asquith announced that the amending bill would give effect to any agreement which the Government was still hopeful might be reached. He said that if at the time of the introduction of the Irish Home Rule bill to the House of Lords, no such agreement had been reached, the amending bill would embody the substance of the proposals outlined by him on March 9, in the hope that, after discussion, an agreement might be secured.

Referendum Plan of March 9.

On March 9 Premier Asquith told the House of Commons that, before the bill became operative a poll would be taken of the parliamentary electors of every county of Ulster Province, to decide whether those counties should be excluded from the provisions of the Irish Home Rule bill for a period of six years from the first meeting of the new Irish Parliament.

If the majority of the voters were in favor of the scheme, the county would automatically be excluded for the prescribed period.

WOMEN OF THE MIDDLE AGES

Women in England have always shared in the industrial life of the nation. Curiously enough a statue of 1363 that ordered men to keep to one trade left women free to practice as many as they chose.

In a few instances at least, women in the middle ages discharged duties and held offices that do not fall to their lot nowadays. There are allusions to women burgesses in the records of London and other towns, and if women married aliens they could naturalize them.

Women did not shrink from engaging in foreign commerce. They exported goods to France, Spain and other countries.

A widow, Margery Russell of Coventry, is mentioned in no less than three different existing documents.

Her binges must have been on a fairly large scale for she was robbed of merchandise worth $4000 by some men of Saragossa in Spain. In order to recoup herself for her losses she obtained letters of marque that empowered her to seize the goods belonging to countrymen of the offenders.

Margery apparently took more than was due her, for two Spanish merchants lodged complaints against her. She was ordered to restore both ships, but one of the Spaniards declared that she had refused to do so, although he had a commission directed to the chequer.

If Dame Margery Russell was a type of women traders of the middle ages, they were well able to look after themselves.—Mr. A. Abram in English Life and Manners in the Later Middle Ages.

Reducing Her Charms

"The duke is fearfully jealous remarked the heiress.

"Worries him to see you look at another man, eh?"

"No, but it gives him the shudders every time I spend any of my money."

—Pittsburg Post.
